

Dear sir, I hope you are having a good day!

I happy to write to you, my name is merna hesham, I want to tell you that after reviewing your project description, your project has caught my attention and I'm interested in working on this project and looking forward to working with you, as I understand it looks like you need to connect patients directly with their doctors by taking PSD mockup files from our designer and converting them into custom code using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript and I intended to use especially React.js is an open-source JavaScript package designed to create incredibly responsive user interfaces. It is declarative and component-based, allowing you to reuse components to quickly develop complex user interfaces. It also makes JS coding simpler, is simple to adopt, has excellent cross-platform compatibility, handles dependencies, and makes template designing simple. I am a web app developer with 3 years of experience and over 10 projects completed with 10 clients in the USA, Europe, and Australia. Also, I accept the project deadline and the payment fees you offered and will be reaching you constantly upon completion of each feature,

I will be honored to work with you, and I hope to hear from you soon.
